

Bingo Playing: The Perfect Activity for Your Family

Glorious day for some bingo playing with your family and friends, isn't it? We have prepared a special piece for you today, detailing why bingo games represent the perfect family activity. Long have we heard of games that are touted as the pinnacle of family entertainment, without a single mention of the wonderful game of bingo. Here is our effort to mend this situation!

Playing with adults

BingoHall represents the perfect venue for you, your partner, your extended family and even your friends and neighbors. If each of you have a computer or a laptop (and coming soon: smartphone or tablet), you can all play in the same bingo room and have tons of fun. Bingo playing at BingoHall takes the game to the next level. Here, you can have a world of fun with our special games, promotions and even chat games. Each and every one of our bingo rooms has its own special feel to it, from the glamorous Supernova to the kinky Taboo.

You and your family or friends can all join our games at the same time and have fun together. You can compete against each other in our promotions, or you can band together and split the winnings at the end. You can even create a team and join our weekly Team Smackdown Tournament. Winning it will bring your team the massive $3,000 CASH prize. If you want even more tournament bingo playing, you can organize competitions of your own versus your family members and set your own prizes.

Playing with your kids

Bingo playing with kids is a little bit different. Minors are not allowed to play for real money, so you are going to have to think outside the box. While you play on our website, let your kids observe and teach them the rules of bingo. Once you have done that, you can print out cards that they can daub based on the numbers called in the game you're in. If your children manage to daub the pattern first, you can award them a special prize (candy, a toy, etc.).

If your neighbors and their kids come over, you can all have a big bingo playing party! Just hook up the adults' laptops to your wi-fi, print enough cards for all the kids and let the fun commence! In this case, we recommend muting the sound on all but one machine. It can get really crazy if you hear Gilda calling the numbers from multiple sources. Even if there's half a second of delay between your machines, understanding what numbers are being called will become quite difficult. With this in mind, let everyone join the game and have a wonderful time!
